LOCATION

BEDFORD-STUYVESANT

Bedford-Stuyvesant, located in central Brooklyn and nudged up against ultra-hip Williamsburg, is a historic neighborhood filled with extraordinary brownstones and perhaps the largest collection of intact and largely untouched Victorian architecture in the country, with roughly 8,800 buildings built before 1900. The area's leafy side streets and bustling avenues have made it a favorite amid Brooklyn's ongoing resurgence. Young professionals and artists are moving in, and new restaurants, bars and businesses are cropping up all along Bed-Stuy's streets and avenues.

As Bed-Stuy is trying to maintain it's essential character, the availability of townhouses and rentals at relatively reasonable prices is driving what some have called a renaissance of the neighborhood, one that includes a revival of commercial strips that are seeing new restaurants and bars.

Bedford-Stuyvesant has been named one of the top five coolest neighborhoods in the world

It takes the #4 spot on Time Out's list of the 40 coolest neighborhoods in the world for 2020.

Written by Will Gleason Tuesday October 6 2020

For a first-hand look, check out this brilliant piece from Ezinne Mgbearuiké, who wonderfully captures the spirit of this neighborhood. Her on-the-ground report from a block party thrown by the new community support group Building Black Bed-Stuy captures a lot of what makes this part of NYC so special: strong neighborly bonds, serious activism mixed with passionate culture and the brilliance of the area's local Black community.

For those reasons and more, we've officially named Bed-Stuy one of the top five coolest neighborhoods in the world this year. Looking to spend some time exploring the area yourself? Hit up one of the five best outdoor dining spots in the neighborhood and check out our full Bedford-Stuyvesant neighborhood guide.

Odds are, you've been spending a lot more time in your neighborhood lately.

In this topsy-turvy year, we've all been living hyper-locally. Our immediate surroundings and communities have become more important to us than ever. So when Time Out set out to name its 40 coolest neighborhoods in the world for 2020, we broadened our focus to highlight not only up-and-coming areas, but also ones that have fostered community spirit and activism in inspiring ways during this difficult year. For New York, the choice was clear: Bedford-Stuyvesant. (We also surveyed thousands of readers, and they agreed with us.)

Bed-Stuy is a neighborhood cloaked in history, with leafy residential streets that pulse with a sense of community and tradition: lively conversations between neighbors on stoops, blocks that feel like extended families and rows of ancient Victorian brownstones. However, this year, the area became New York's greatest incubator of the future.

Long a cultural center of the city's Black population, Bed-Stuy served as a main hub for Black Lives Matter protests. In the face of devastation brought on by Covid-19, it gave birth to mutual aid networks like Bed-Stuy Strong to protect its most vulnerable members.

Meanwhile, local businesses have opened their doors to the streets, melding private and public space and building bonds of togetherness in a new urban social compact. Peaches Hot House serves hot fried chicken in an outdoor dining area on Tompkins. Harold and Maude Vintage sells vibrant clothing for all genders off a rack on Lafayette. The Billie Holiday Theatre stages brilliant, socially-distanced theatrical productions for masked crowds, keeping art alive during a pandemic.

Bed-Stuy Is 4th Coolest Neighborhood In The World, Survey Says

Time Out has revealed this year's list of the "40 coolest neighborhoods around the world." Only one in New York City made the cut.

Anna Quinn, Patch Staff

4. Bedford-Stuyvesant, New York

Bedford-Stuyvesant may look like a snapshot of the past with its brownstones and leafy streets, but it has become New York's greatest future thinker, serving as the main hub for Black Lives Matter protests and sprouting new initiatives such as Bed-Stuy – helping to protect the most vulnerable. Locals were kept entertained by Billie Holiday Theatre who organized socially-distanced theatrical productions and Peaches Hothouse served up the best fried chicken in Tompkins, within an outdoor seating area.

BED-STUY, BROOKLYN — If its long list of cultural icons — from Biggie Smalls, to Jay-Z and Jackie Robinson — is any indication, Bed-Stuy has always known it's cool.

Now the world knows it, too.

A ranking released by Time Out this week has put Bed-Stuy fourth on its list of the "40 coolest neighborhood in the world," making it the only New York City neighborhood to make the cut.

The annual list, which started in 2018, gave a special nod this year to "community spirit," or the "neighborhoods where people showed unconditional love and support for the communities and local businesses who represent the soul of the city" during the turmoil of 2020.

Here's what Time Out New York Editor, Will Gleason had to say about Bed-Stuy: "Bedford-Stuyvesant may look like a snapshot of the past with its brownstones and leafy streets, but it has become New York's greatest future thinker, serving as the main hub for Black Lives Matter protests and sprouting new initiatives such as Bed-Stuy – helping to protect the most vulnerable. Locals were kept entertained by Billie Holiday Theatre who organized socially-distanced theatrical productions and Peaches Hothouse served up the best fried chicken in Tompkins, within an outdoor seating area."

The Brooklyn hotspot was surpassed only by a section of Barcelona, Downtown Los Angeles and a neighborhood in Hong Kong.

The list is generated by a survey of more than 38,000 people and advice from Time Out's experts. Bed-Stuy made the top 10:
